Brief Summary Overview of Lawsuit (Notice)

Comes now Relator ex rel. the fifty (50) State and Commonwealth Plaintiffs, with this streamlined notice and summary overview of the entire lawsuit package as filed, to-wit:

There are two main parts in this lawsuit, both directly related as intertwining economic damages sustained and economic reliefs required, regarding the entire nation as a whole.

The first part sues over and exposes unnatural actions that decrease our birth rate as the – by far – primary destructor of our economy, including three (3) culprits: abortion, state-sponsored contraception, and to a lesser degree, the LGBT community and agenda.

The recent and continuing “Great Recession” that began with a late 2008 implosion of the financial sectors was directly caused by four decades of allowing abortion-on-demand to continually skew our population gap ratios further and further apart, aggravating the birth rate loss with state-sponsored contraception, stretching the financial mathematics of our nation like a rubber band, until the system finally snapped, and all things caved in.

No consumer-driven nation can financially survive by killing its own consumers, and after four decades of this insanity, we have managed to eliminate over one-sixth (1/6th) of entire consumer base, by allowing well over 50 million abortions to occur. The financial math is actually quadruple bad for America, since not only do we kill our consumerism, but we also rob our own national productivity, deplete our own taxpayer base needed to sustain governmental functions, and, certainly not least, we also destroy the mathematical bases of all long-term financial instruments, like private and public pension funds, Social Security, government bonds, mortgage securities and other types of derivatives, and etc.

In comparison, the entirety of all blame for the 2008 meltdown placed upon the bank and mortgage industries is only one handful of sand, against an entire beach of financial damage caused by abortion, state-sponsored contraception, and other loss of birth rate.

Simply put, abortion, contraception and other birth rate loss issues are not “pro-life” or “pro-choice” or similar moral/ethical issues, they are national economic security issues, and, in fact, tremendously huge economic issues. Abortion-on-demand must be stopped immediately, and that must be the national standard enforced, but this lawsuit leaves open the question of “the rare exceptions” as to be state-by-state decided in their exclusivity or inclusivity in application of that standard (referring to that rare ~1% of abortions wanted for reasons of rape, incest, serious threat to mother, serious fetal deformity, and/or etc.).

Abortionist organizations are sued as the primary “class” of Defendants, along with various “sub-classes” of putative Defendants for conspiring in our economic destruction; all abortionists’ assets – nationwide – are to be immediately seized by our governments, reserving a fraction of those for increased adoption services; all forms of state-sponsored and state-induced contraception must likewise immediately cease, while never infringing upon any individual's private contraception purchase and usage; and, while we will never seek to intrude into the private sexual affairs of any individual of the LGBT community, by definition their overall loss impact upon the birth rate mandates the ceasing of any and all governmental support, legitimization in any shape or form, or otherwise condoning, not to additionally mention their huge price burden upon our national health care system.

Naturally, all forms of federal, state and local taxpayer funding for any of the above must likewise immediately cease, for it is pure nonsense to fund our own financial doom, and while the Defendants are sued for the entire losses of American "hard money" wealth in 2008, some $25 trillion (actual cash values, home and personal wealth, etc. – i.e., not counting securities and derivatives, etc.), yet using for legal formality only a conservative figure of $15 trillion, it is realized that Defendants only have but mere, paltry billions in their financial and physical assets, with which to repay America in only token judgments, hence the inherent authority of all our governments to effect immediate seizures of assets, and hence the likewise inherently emergency economic authority of all executive officers, and of all legislative officers, and of all judicial officers, to immediately issue and declare emergency moratoriums against at least abortion and all state-sponsored contraception.

Lastly, it is still not enough to simply stop the long-term, massive hemorrhaging of our nation's population ratios. If we do not dramatically increase our national birth rate, and also maintain that artificially-increased growth rate over the coming 15-20 year period, America's financial mathematics will not survive inevitable doom. The need is critically urgent, and America's experts and officials must craft incentives and support networks.

The second part of this lawsuit is economically related through a direct challenge in gross breach of contract, by the People and the States, against the Federal Government, which has fundamentally mismanaged our national economy in variety of incompetence.

That all-important, binding contract is the contract formed by our triplet of Founding Documents, i.e., the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, later as upgraded and refined into the newer Federal Constitution, and together with nationalizing our monetary system in final contractual compromise by also adding the Bill of Rights.

From the Declaration of Independence, up to and including the Tenth Amendment, all of these original Founding Documents, together, comprise the most important contract in America – ever – created in mutual legal agreement by the citizen People, by and through their respective States. The People and the States were, and are, the superior “parent” parties to this contract, and the entity created solely by this contract is the inferior “child” party, i.e., the Federal Government, assigned with certain limited powers and duties, and provided financing and other resources, “hired” to properly manage our nation’s affairs.

See the full Count III within the Verified Complaint, et seq., for complete details, but the bottom line is that a 3/5th majority of the fifty (50) States and Commonwealths may now declare the Federal Government in gross breaches of contract, temporarily take-over through the National Governors Association, effecting all necessary repairs, changes and upgrades, and then return the corrected government back unto a new set of management.

However, and also pursuant to Contract Law, the offending party, here represented by Congress, should – first – be given ninety-nine (99) days to repair and correct the Federal Government’s breaches of contract, including, at a minimum, all relief demanded herein.

Such primary breaches of contract, with corresponding repairs required, include:

- a) All three economic devastation issues covered in the first part of the instant suit, i.e., end abortion, state-sponsored contraception, and materially assisting LGBT;
- b) Since fiat currency is inherently doomed, promptly re-install a modernized “gold standard” in two phases, using 7 precious metals, then adding 5 rare earth metals;
- c) Declare the eventual $300+ billion/year “ObamaCare” as procedurally and totally void for at least four (4) constitutional reasons, any one (1) of which will end it;
- d) Transform virtually all forms of welfare, from “free” handouts of money, services and other benefits, which returns nothing to taxpayers, into free (subsidized) jobs by the millions, in order to rebuild and modernize all our national infrastructure;
- e) Harvest big data cleanups in all welfare systems, using $500 IRS rebate checks;
- f) Either strike down, or now do actually enforce, the 12th Amendment’s requirement in strict, separate balloting between presidential and vice-presidential candidates;
- g) And related, disqualify both Obama and Romney as utterly ineligible, unqualified, and unethical, choosing from four (4) alternatives in correcting our White House.

See each relevant individual filing in this case for full, respective details on the above.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Torm Howse
